Projects and Achievements

1. Scrittor Note Taking App

One of my app named "Scrittor" is being downloaded by 1200+ new users every week and also has a decent rating of 4.6 on Play Store. The app has now reached a download count of more than 100 thousand.

When creating these apps, my main focus always remains end user's experience and ease of use. I have mentioned few reviews which my apps have received on Play Store.

The best note app I've tried. It has a simple but pretty design and is very easy to use. Being able to add a password is great. I recommend it to anyone looking for a note app.

Actually a really good note taking app, using this next to Google Keep and it's brilliant. Emailed app developer about an issue and was replied to and updated the app in the same day. Definitely a good dev here!

2. Projects at Endurance International Group

I have worked with Designers and Backend Developers to develop multiple websites which are currently live.

Anytimesupport.co - The main goal of this website was to showcase the service that the company provides to the small and large businesses. The theme according to the designers was to keep it minimal and interesting and also professional at the same time to get attention of possible clients.

support.logicboxes.com/helpdesk/ - I have written the entire HTML and CSS coupled with JavaScript to develop this website. This website focuses on interaction that the end client will have with the website using animations and transitions. This new redesign helped us to reduce the customer support queries, by providing information on the website itself.

pulse.myorderbox.com - Complete Front End Design Using CSS Preprocessor SASS. This project also included design inline mails.

I have designed multiple assets using Photoshop and Illustrator for different websites. Have also participated in internal Hackathon with 2 teams
